

It is extremely annoying to receive phone calls from solicitors of any kind. Some of these solicitors are very rude and disrespectful. When I get home at night from work I really don't want to have to be bothered to answer the phone from people I don't know trying to get me to purchase something I don't want.